FROM BRETHREN FOUNDATION FUNDS

MARCH 2015

Markets and the Economy

The S&P 500 Index advanced 5.7 percent in February, helped in part by strong quarterly earnings reports. While job growth was strong, many previously sidelined American workers resumed their job search, causing the unemployment rate to tick up a tenth of a percentage point to 5.7 percent in January. The Fed said it is moving closer to a rate increase, but any movement hinges not only on the performance of the economy, but inflation moving toward its target rate of 2 percent. Driven by a plunge in oil prices, the consumer price index fell 0.1 percent in January from a year earlier. Manufacturing expanded, but at a slower pace in February, hurt by sluggish overseas economies and a strike at West Coast ports. A tightening supply of homes contributed to January's sales of previously owned homes falling 4.9 percent from December. The bond market, as measured by the Barclays Capital Government/Credit Index, declined 1.3 percent in February.

While economic growth slowed in France and contracted in Greece, Germany and Spain helped boost the Eurozone GDP to advance 0.3 percent in the fourth quarter compared with the previous quarter. For all of 2014, the Eurozone's economy expanded 0.9 percent. The Greek government secured an extension of its bailout program. In an effort to stimulate growth, China's central bank relaxed banks' reserve-requirement ratio, freeing up more than $100 billion that banks can lend, and cut its key lending and deposit rates a quarter of a percentage point. The Bank of England stated it is prepared to cut its key interest rates or expand its bond-buying program should the current period of low inflation become "self-reinforcing." Brazil stepped up austerity measures and increased taxes in an effort to shore up its deteriorating finances. International equities, as measured by the MSCI EAFE Index, rose 6 percent in February.

Harness the power of the portal

As of the end of February, 56 percent of Brethren Foundation Fund's organizational clients have authorized individuals to use the BFFI client portal. Those who use the client portal have the earliest access to statements and the new issue of Investment Perspective each month. All online users also have access to past statements, the most recent edition of the Information Statement, and past issues of Investment Perspective (which are also available at www.cobbt.org/investment-perspective).

But there is much more to the client portal than access to current and past reports and documents. Full access users of the client portal may also initiate transactions electronically and generate a variety of custom reports. Users with full "look-only" access receive regular monthly statements and have the ability to generate custom reports; they can prepare statements and performance reports; and review account activity at both the summary and detail level for custom date ranges. Reports can be exported for use as spreadsheets or PDF documents. Online users have access to the help section of the client portal and can submit specific requests via the request feature within the help section.

Like many other citizens and corporations, BFFI is sensitive to environmental sustainability and is proud to note that all users of the client portal receive monthly statements, the annual Information Statement, and monthly issues of Investment Perspective only in electronic format via the client portal, thereby enabling BFFI to reduce paper consumption.

Anyone interested in gaining access to the client portal or receiving assistance with its use can contact Steve Lipinski at slipinski@cobbt.org or 847-622-3369.

Please contact Steve Mason, director of Brethren Foundation, with questions or comments.

Those who use the client portal have the earliest access to statements and the new issue of Investment Perspective each month.
